INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATIONS

From Chairman's Desk

“Life without freedom is a body without spirit” and everyone must battle for it. Many heroes sacrificed for India's liberation, but many still have unseen chains. Young adulthood is a vital phase of life, and developing countries with large youth populations can see significant economic growth if they invest in welfare, education, and human rights protection. Education is crucial for achieving true freedom. Let's disseminate knowledge, support our nation's youth, and commemorate the spirit of independence.

Dr. Venu Gopal Muddisetty, an honourable MLA from the Darsi Constituency and the Chairman of the PACE Institute of Technology and Sciences, offered these inspiring words. He also addressed the entire faculty and student body in a message of greeting.

“Let your spirits fly high with the Indian flag”

From Secretary's Desk

Indians celebrate the Seventy Seventh Anniversary of their country's Independence with enthusiasm worldwide. It is crucial to remember the sacrifices made for Indian freedom and to preserve it. Education is a journey from darkness to light and ignorance to enlightenment, and freedom from ignorance leads to success. Despite being a developing nation, Indian CEOs hold significant positions in the world's largest corporations. The twenty-first century is a technological era, and India is impregnable because it has maintained its culture at the top of the world's mountain since time immemorial. Indian youth are striving to set technological advancement benchmarks and technocrats are the only ones capable of doing so. To set a new record, PACE students are advised to think creatively and advance technologies to scale the highest peaks.

On the eve of the Indian Independence Day celebrations at PACE, Dr. Muddisetty Sridhar, Secretary and Correspondent of PACE Institute of Technology and Sciences shared these encouraging comments.

Principal's Desk

For the entire PACE family, it is a wonderful honour to celebrate Indian Independence Day. This is the day that our country commemorates its independence and freedom. It was a momentous occasion, and it marked the beginning of a new era for our country. For our nation, it was a historic moment that signaled the start of a new age. Additionally, this is a time to recognize and honour the diversity of our nation. Our country is home to a diverse range of cultures and tongues. We are a nation that constantly aspires to be better. On this day of the magnum opus, let us recommit ourselves to the principles that make our nation great by reaching the highest altitudes and expressing our thanks to our country.

Principal Dr. GVK Murthy wished everyone at PACE a happy Independence Day.

Vice-principal's Desk

Independence Day is a historical occasion in India, marking the overthrow of British colonial rule and the establishment of a sovereign, democratic republic. It is important to remember the sacrifices of freedom fighters that made this day possible. Never should we take for granted our priceless independence. The destiny of our beautiful country is in the hands of every Indian. Let's unite on this Independence Day and make a commitment to work tirelessly for the advancement of our country. Students especially have a responsibility to work tirelessly for the country's advancement, adhering to the truth, non-violence, democracy, and secularism ideals enshrined in the Constitution. By working together for national progress, we can have a brighter future, inspired by our past.

Vice Principal Dr. R. Veeranjanyulu extended Independence Day greetings to all members of the PACE family.
